Minerals range

to 31st Oct

Minerals, trace elements and vitamin supplementation are an essential component in modern agricultural practices. With advances in rapid growing forages and grasses we see less of these nutrients available to animals through their normal diet, this is making supplementation of minerals much more important than it was many years ago. It may be a small component in terms of volume in the diet, but critically important to the animals in terms of metabolism, growth, health, welfare, fertility and immunity.

Co-op Source mineral supplements hold the key to getting the most from your animals in this regard. Co-op Source mineral formulations have been created in consultation with specialist nutritionists to ensure optimum performance for your animals.

Mineral feeding is all about balanced and regular feeding, animals need small daily amounts of these key nutrients to maximise performance. Increasing some elements to a critically high level can have a negative impact on absorption of another key element, therefore balance is key. Co-op Source mineral supplements provide the ideal balance of Macro minerals, trace elements and Vitamins.

Features

High levels of bioavailable magnesium

Large quantities of essential vitamins

Protected trace elements

Benefits

Reducing risk of metabolic disorders (which include milk fever, retained placenta, and influence subsequent lactation yield)

Boosting Cow and Calf immunity and colostrum quality

Healthier animals giving higher performance and profitability.

We use EU approved raw materials of high quality in our mineral supplements which ensures they are highly bioavailable to your animals. This bioavailability is enhanced by the addition of seaweed, a natural source of key bioavailable trace elements in an organic form. This allows higher absorption with less antagonistic properties from the diet. Ensuring your animals get the minerals they need and are not locked up by other elements.

A wide range of minerals are available in the Co-op Source range for supplementing Pre and Post calving diets, youngstock, beef finishing animals, sheep and lambs. There is a product to suit all your needs in our range. Available in bucket lick or in bag form for top dress onto forages.

Pre-Calver

High in all Minerals and Vitamins, also contains protected Copper and Zinc

Hi-Mag

Extremely palatable formulation for better intake of all minerals and vitamins

Sheep

Protected Zinc for enhanced availability to support the reduction of lameness

Fertility

Protected Copper and Zinc

Calf to Beef

High B vitamins, including B1, to maximise performance on forage & grass
